Analysis: On-Ball Value & Line Breaking Passes
2021/22 Season

Introduction

StatsBomb are champions of decision-defining sports data, bringing uncompromising accuracy, advice and support to the world's top sporting organisations. In this document, you will find examples of how StatsBomb's world class event data can be used to analyse the offensive style of your own team, an opponent, or an individual player.

OBV (On-Ball Value)

Our approach to valuing every event that happens on the pitch based on how it changes a team's likelihood of scoring or conceding.

Line Breaking Passes

Passes that dissect a line of the opposition's formation, they usually allow a team to transition from one attacking phase to another.

360 Data

StatsBomb 360 delivers contextual event data at a transformational level of detail, giving the locations of all players on the pitch for an average of 3,400 events per game.

360 Data makes it possible to perform even more advanced analysis than is possible with our standard data, adding context to each event and allowing the possibility of measuring metrics such as:

- Line-breaking passes
- Ball receipts in space
- Distance To Closest Defender

And many more.

This allows us to measure which players are regularly able to break lines with their passing, which players often find pockets of space between the lines to receive, and how players perform actions under different degrees of opposition pressure.
